* If one or both rising signs are unknown, leave out the rising sign for both people and using the alternate scoring parameters

1 – 30: Best Friends...

1 – 25 without rising signs

This is an excellent score for a long-lasting relationship. You are very much alike, making you very compatible. You are comfortable together. Your attitudes and approaches to life are similar. Your energy levels and outlooks are in sync and you see eye-to-eye on most things. Often it seems that you know what the other person is thinking or how they will react to a situation because your thought processes and emotions are so similar. This is a relationship based on mutual understanding, common interests and similar outlooks. However, you do not satisfy unconscious needs in each other or balance each other astrologically by giving each other the elements you lack. You are likely to unconsciously seek a way to balance the elements you lack with friends outside the relationship who have the elements you lack or activities that are related to the element you lack.

31 – 60: Friendly Love...

26 – 50 without rising signs

With a score in this range, you are still more alike than different. These relationships are easy and are based on compatibility with a fundamental, strong friendship. However, you are different enough to satisfy some unconscious needs in each other and stir some attraction. You give each other some of the elements you lack, but you are still similar enough in your element make up to have a high level of compatibility. These relationships are generally long-lasting and there are few disputes because you understand each other easily, but there is still some spice in the relationship to spark attraction because you aren't completely alike. Your elements balance each other enough to keep the relationship unconsciously interesting.

61 – 90: Passionate Allure...

51 – 75 without rising signs

In this range you are more different than alike. These relationships are based on attraction. You have an unconscious attraction to each other because you each have high levels of the elements that other lacks. In this way, you balance each other and this is very attractive. However, these differences in your elements mean you often don't see the world the same way. You have outlooks, emotions and reactions that differ. A relationship based more on love than friendship is likely and there are likely to be some bumps throughout the relationship because of your differences. The unconscious pull of attraction is strong though, and because your differences are not that great, the pull is likely to keep you together and make the differences worth the trouble.

91 – 120: Mysteriously Seductive...

76 – 100 without rising signs

Relationships with scores in this range are not common. You are very different, and are likely to have completely different social circles. You are so different that you may never even approach each other and meet in the first place. Your energies, emotions, reactions and outlooks differ vastly. However, you completely balance each, so the chances of attraction are very high. This attraction is often unexplainable and feels seductive and compelling, but your compatibility is so low that you have difficulty understanding each other. Sexual relationships with no element of friendship can occur in this range. You can seem anywhere from mysteriously attractive to awkward to each other. In a setting where there is no chance of a sexual relationship, such as a work relationship, you can benefit each other greatly. Because you each have the elements the other lacks, you are stronger together. Together you are virtually complete in your astrological element make up, so as a combined force, you can be effective and strong.
